OK! While I reserve serious doubts as to this edition, I will give The Starving Artist Previously Known As Emil a pass as the topic is as interesting as Emil's Illustrations are bizarre.

The story goes (as some long time readers might recall) that Emil returned from an archaeological expedition to the wilds of the Gobi Desert back in 1936, he returned with a rather odd character (Colonel Churchwell) and made a (even stranger) side trip by ways of the Colonel's old haunts in the monasteries in the far reaches of Western Tibet.

Emil says they did this on a personal bet over the Colonel's assertion(s) that he had discovered in a previous stay in these remote monasteries that the origins of the prehistoric Juda State had been in Tibet dating back tens of thousands of years before the mountain arose and forced the prehistoric Hebrews to flee to Mesopotamia as refugees and after that you know the rest of the story (more or less).

To Emil's retelling of this adventure, it seems that the Colonel won his five pound bet with Emil and as proof to all those naysayers and self-righteously pretenders of non-truth, polite society's cadre over over-educated, common sense deficient, our gatekeepers of knowledge; Emil has given us a most interesting collection of illustrations from a very ancient book that purports to be "Ezekiel's Travels Illustrated" along with a copy of what the monks claimed was Jesus' Library Card from the monastery library with a report of several (still) overdue books.

Emil says that the original creators of the new bible were made aware of this prior edition and elected to exclude it from their own version as the book was just too "Sci-Fi" for the readers of their own era.

We will not bother you with the text as it is written in Sanskrit - although a Hindu Scholar that I had look at the copy of the original book confirms that it is basically the same story (give-or-take a name, a place or a phrase that doesn't translate that well into English) and since you all remember the story from Sunday School or at least the "History Channel" no need to waste vital illustration space.

Several of WWWG's Marketing Team asked Emil (Starving Artist) as to why the photos (he captured on film) are all abstract patterns and Emil immediately embarked upon an extended Guru Shara, "Harmonic Frequency Control Rates" Lecture that went way over all of their slightly educated heads. While they are pretty bright for Community College and Business School Students, they are not rocket scientists - although, one of the young gals said she had heard of that as she and her dad often watched "Ancient Aliens" on the History Channel.

Finally, after seeing the "deer caught in the headlight" stares from his audience he summarized it into common people speak much as Political Commissar K. Harris used to speak (though she had bongo drums which added to her Bohemian Presentations) and explained that the CIS human eye and our mind's ability to process these wave lengths is far too primitive to see at the hyper frequencies at which these Multiverse Crew exist and, at best, we are reduced to "seeds and stems" or just patterns and abstract.

So be that. I am the first to admit the Emil is no Graham Hancock or John Anthony West but, I do remember that time and the wild stories that he told after returning from this expedition, back in the day.

Anyone claiming that there are not weird things out there that challenge everything that they taught us in our education is either catfishing you or are on the take from some elitist group or another who maintain their status by denying us access to the true history of what Emil calls "the First Humans." FOLLOW THE MONEY!

Since Emil has no money (that is why he is a starving artist) I tend to believe him more than I would some CNNister Hack on the Smithsonian's payroll. That's just my own opinion.

You may have your own.

Please do not be misled into believing that WWWG shares your interest or cares about your long rebuttals.

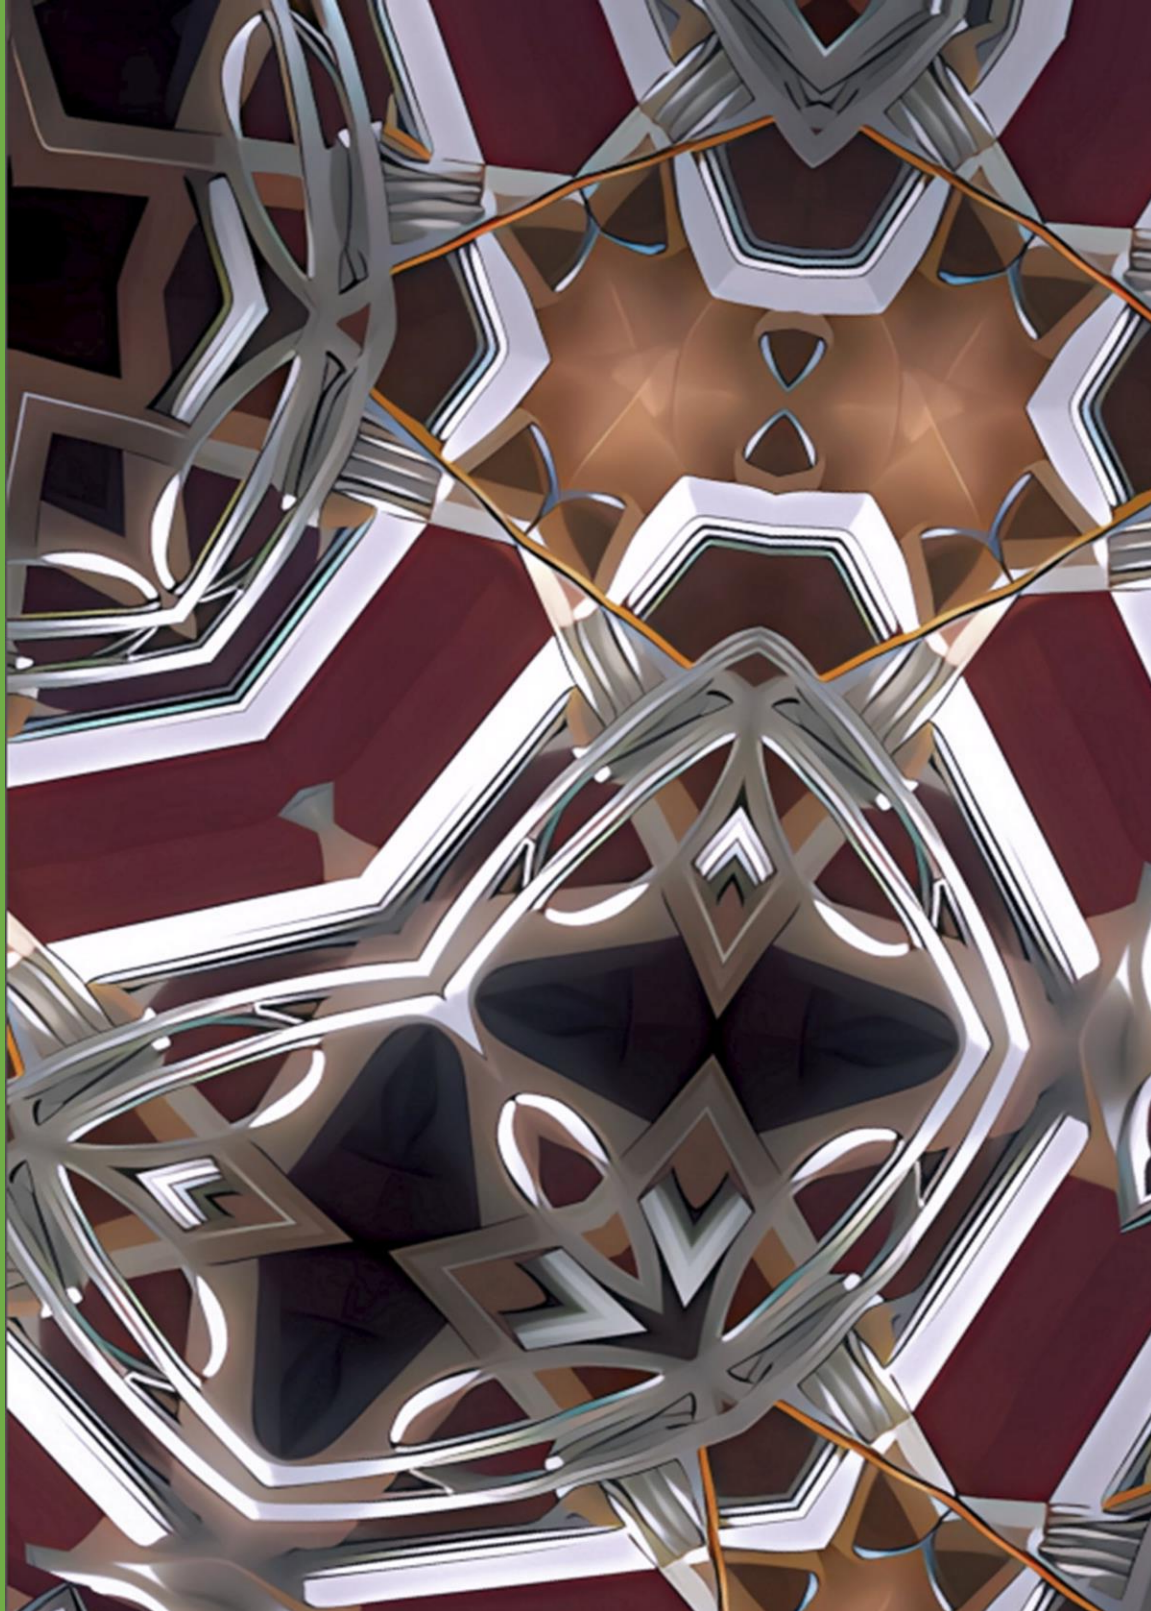

Buy the book and then burn it if it offends you so! Don't call us!

And then, send your comments directly to Emil or to those Tibetan Monasteries that you think catfished

A cartoon illustration of a zombie dog and a man in a military uniform in a laboratory. The zombie dog is on the left, with a human-like face, wearing black eye paint and showing sharp teeth. The man is on the right, in a dark uniform with a peaked cap, looking shocked with his hands raised. In the background, a sign reads 'U.S. ARMY CHEMICAL CORPS TOP SECRET LABORATORY'. To the right, another sign says 'MISSION ASSASSINATE HITLER'. A thought bubble from the dog contains the text: 'DAMN!!! Foiled AGAIN by those GOF Zombie Samples from that clown Emil!'.

DAMN!!!
Foiled AGAIN
